

OZOMATLI

Grammy Award winning Latin hip-hop band Ozomatli entertained across India and Nepal in February, performing for orphans at the Arya Anathalaya (above) and jamming with students at Ravi Shankar Institute of Music and Performing Arts (right) in New Delhi. These Los Angeles-based musicians have been deeply influenced by their ethnically diverse backgrounds. As cultural ambassadors from the United States, they reached out to South Asian young people through the common language of music.

Photographs by VIKAS NARULA